Marcos Ambrose's crew celebrates after his victory in the Finger Lakes 355 at Watkins Glen.

Ambrose wins Glen again on a late burst

By John Kekis
The Associated Press

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. — Marcos Ambrose passed Brad Keselowski on the final lap, then held him off in a fender-banging duel to win the Finger Lakes 355 Sprint Cup race at Watkins Glen International for the second straight time.

Kyle Busch, desperate for a win to move back into contention for the Chase for the Sprint Cup championship, was in control of the race but was leaking oil on the track. He skidded sideways coming out of the first turn of the final lap. Keselowski's No. 2 Dodge caromed off the side of the No. 18 Toyota and Ambrose followed Keselowski through.

"Busch slipped up big in turn one," said Keselowski, who suffered damage to the front of his car. "There was nothing he could do. We all checked up and Marcos was right on my bumper. We all just about spun out. We got to the inner loop, and again nothing but oil."

POINTS RACE

- Jimmie Johnson 777
- Greg Biffle 776
- Matt Kenseth 775
- D. Earnhardt Jr. 760
- Brad Keselowski 733
- Martin Truex Jr. 728
- Clint Bowyer 719
- Tony Stewart 716
- Kevin Harvick 710
- Denny Hamlin 693
- Kasey Kahne 653
- Carl Edwards 650

around the 11-turn, 2.45-mile layout, Ambrose and Keselowski battled side by side nearly all the way around. Both went into the grass in the inner loop at the top of the high-speed S-curves but kept charging.

Ambrose slipped again in turn 10, but Keselowski couldn't drive past. Neither gave ground, but Ambrose forged ahead in his Richard Petty Motorsports Ford on the final turn, another hard right-hander, and turned away Keselowski's final charge on the outside.

"I must have hit the oil

one more time and he didn't," Keselowski said. "I thought I had him, but I hit more oil than Marcos did."

Entering the race, Ambrose had one win and had never finished lower than third in four starts at The Glen for an average finish of 2.3 and an average green flag speed of nearly 120 mph. Both were tops in the series.

Jimmie Johnson was third to gain the points lead by one over Greg Biffle. Sonoma winner Clint Bowyer and Sam Hornish Jr. were next, giving Dodge two in the top five. Dale Earnhardt Jr. spun late and finished 28th to fall from first to fourth in points, 17 behind Johnson.

Biffle, Busch, Matt Kenseth, Regan Smith and Martin Truex Jr. rounded out the top 10.

The top 10 drivers in the standings qualify for the 10-race Chase, and two wild cards are awarded to the drivers with the most wins outside the top 10. Only those in the top 20 are eligible for wild cards.

Luck strikes quickly for TD

No. 1 pick's first pass produces points as Colts rout Rams.

The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Andrew Luck knows life in the NFL can't be this easy for a rookie.

The No. 1 overall draft pick threw his first NFL pass for a long touchdown, just like Peyton Manning in 1998, then led Indianapolis to two more touchdowns. Luck one-upped his predecessor by winning Sunday's pre-season opener 38-3 over St. Louis — Indy's first pre-season-opening win since 1994.

"To get a win, get in the game and put some drives together is great," Luck said. "But I realize, and the guys in the locker room realize, it's a pre-season game and things will be different as the season goes along."

Luck might have the toughest job in football this season — replacing Manning, the longtime face of Indy's franchise.

But he showed everyone Sunday that he can do whatever is asked.

Colts coaches wanted the man billed as the most polished NFL rookie since Manning to take 20 to 25 snaps. He got 24.

They wanted to keep him upright, and though Luck hit the ground twice, he was not sacked.

They wanted him to show his command of the offense, and in less than one half, Luck seemed to have Manning's playbook down pat, from the perfect baseball slide to rushing his team to the line of scrimmage so the Rams couldn't challenge a catch on the sideline.

The rookie quarterback wound up 10 of 16 for 188 yards with two TD passes and a quarterback rating of 142.6. Three of the incompletions were drops, two Andrew Luck completed 10 of 16 passes for 188 yards in Colts' 38-3 victory.

Rams, who pressured Luck most of the day, yet couldn't force him into mistakes, get him on the ground or find a way to reach the end zone.

The Rams' offense moved the ball on its first two series, under Sam Bradford, but stalled. St. Louis did get a 37-yard field goal when Kellen Clemens was running the offense.

Chicago: Injured middle linebacker Brian Urlacher expects to be ready for the regular-season opener against the Indianapolis Colts. Urlacher has left knee pain and has not practiced since July 31. He sprained his medial collateral ligament and partially sprained the posterior cruciate ligament in last season's regular-season finale against Minnesota. There was no need for surgery.

Green Bay: Veteran Cedric Benson signed with the Packers, whose running backs have been plagued by injuries.

Jacksonville: Veteran wide receiver Lee Evans was released. Evans, who signed with the Jaguars as a free agent in April, was released by Baltimore after dropping a pass against New England that could have helped the Ravens earn a trip to the Super Bowl.

Minnesota: Running back Adrian Peterson was activated from the physically unable to perform list, with coach Leslie Frazier saying Peterson had done everything in his rehab that could be done working by himself. Peterson had major knee surgery on Dec. 31.

New England: Wide receiver Plaxico Burress is in Foxborough, Mass., for a workout. Burress spent last season with the Jets after finishing a 20-month prison sentence on a gun charge. New York did not re-sign Burress, who turned 35 Sunday.
