The Public Affairs department realizes that consumers can acquire their news and information in many different formats. It is our goal to provide accurate, timely information to the public so that their decisions and awareness are based on correct information.

As a young child growing up in the West Palm Beach area I can remember when the local newspaper was delivered in the morning and in the evening. I recall my grandfather looking forward to receiving those home-delivered editions to be informed of what was happening. The nightly newscast was also a daily ritual. Having grown up in the 60s and 70s seeing the likes of Walter Cronkite delivering breaking news and news of the day became the household conversation.

Today our choices for receiving information vary by demographics. That is why it is our mission to communicate where the public chooses to view information. To follow any of our departments and offices you can view the “Stay Connected” link on our webpage at www.PBCgov.com. There are many options to select the information you want delivered directly to you from our departments and offices. You can sign up for AlertPBC.com and receive the latest information from our Emergency Management division. Living in South Florida with the threat of severe weather or other natural disasters, it’s important to know what our community might be facing. Our partnership with the local media is valuable and we rely on our media partners to deliver messages widely to the community.

Public Affairs prints county publications you’ll find in the libraries and racks across county buildings or delivered to your home, posts digital information that you can subscribe to, and assists with public records for departments and offices within Palm Beach County. PBC-TV Channel 20 broadcasts county meetings and award-winning local programs on various cable providers. We look forward to serving you, our community.

Sharing information is a collaborative effort among our departments and offices. This week it could be events at your local library or maybe you are looking to add a four-legged addition to your family from Animal Care and Control. Our information should be your Go-to for parks and recreation events offered in our beautiful parks or natural areas. There are an abundance of programs, services and activities that families and visitors can learn about. Please take a minute and complete the enclosed survey. If it’s Palm Beach County information, events or programming, Public Affairs has you covered!

Sincerely,

Lisa De La Rionda

What is Speak Up for Kids?
Speak Up for Kids is a nonprofit solely dedicated to making sure child victims of abuse, particularly those involved in the dependency and foster systems. We support the local Guardian ad Litem Volunteer Advocacy program as they assign an advocate who will SPEAK UP and represent the child’s best interests of safety and permanence. We also fund normalcy activities, so children can take part in life-enhancing, age-appropriate activities to promote their general development and overall wellness.

Where can I find more information about Speak Up for Kids?
Visit our website at www.speakupforkidpbc.org

What is a Guardian ad Litem?
A Guardian ad Litem is a volunteer who, through one-on-one interaction with a child, builds a trusting relationship, gains an understanding of the child’s life and the people the child holds dear, identifies any needs including medical, educational, and developmental, locates resources to fill those needs, and then speaks during court proceedings on behalf of the best interest of the child. We support the work of recruiting, training, and retaining these volunteers while also providing funds for any normalcy needs they identify for the children for whom they advocate.

How can youth get involved in advocacy?
Students Speak Up for Kids is a program of Speak Up, which places young people at the helm of developing and implementing their own projects in service to their peers. They can create care packages, send cards of encouragement, coordinate collection drives, create Students Speak Up Chapters at their schools or colleges. The ideas are endless, and opportunities exist for youth from elementary school through college age.

You can get more information at https://www.studentsspeakupforkidspbc.org/

Where are the children you serve located?
Although there are tens of thousands of children across the state of Florida involved in the system, our focus is on the well-being of the greater than 1,500 Palm Beach County children involved in foster and dependency. We focus on local, one-on-one efforts to make the greatest individual, family, and community impact.
How do children come into care?
There are several environmental factors that contribute to victimization, including toxic stress, chronic poverty, and community violence. It all begins with a report of suspected abuse to the Department of Children and Families who investigates the allegations and determines the need for and level of intervention. This can be anything from in-home education services to removal of the children in the most extreme cases. We focus on innovative ways to enhance the lives of the children we serve while empowering them to break those cycles.

What are everyday ways someone can help you with what you are doing?

VOLUNTEER
Changing the life of a child victim of abuse requires one-on-one time. One caring, consistent adult dedicated to building trust and relationships.

ADVOCATE
As you learn about the importance of child advocacy, share the information with others. You never know who you will influence or how their involvement may affect a child.

PARTICIPATE
We host several fundraising events throughout the year, including our Annual Spring and Fall Galas, Gift-A-Birthday, shopping events, and holiday toy collections. Gather a group of friends, purchase event tickets, and come have some fun with us while making a positive impact on child victims of abuse. Coordinate your own donor event or help during the holidays by collecting toys or gift cards, which are extremely helpful for older youth.

DONATE
Speak Up for Kids couldn’t have the reach it has if it weren’t for donor support! We keep administrative costs low. Ninety cents of each dollar we receive goes directly to serving children.

We are grateful for you!
