Description:

Children who experience Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACES) are at risk for problematic long-term health outcomes. Moreover, the higher the number of ACES, often the greater the impact on their emotional, behavioral, and cognitive wellbeing. This presentation will define common trauma terminology as well as explore the impact of trauma on youth and families. It will also provide a framework for fostering resiliency and creating more trauma-informed environments.

Learning Objectives:

- 1) Define trauma and trauma-related terminology
- 2) Identify the impact of trauma
- 3) Identify ways you can provide trauma-informed care

Presenter:

Danniella Jones, Psy.D. earned her bachelor's degree at Berry College in Rome, Georgia, with a major in Psychology and minor in Women's Studies. She earned her doctorate degree in clinical psychology at Spalding University in Louisville, Kentucky. Dr. Jones completed her doctoral internship at Cherokee Health Systems, an integrated primary care and community mental health center in Knoxville, Tennessee and her post-doctoral fellowship with Palm Beach County Youth Services Department at Highridge Family Center. Dr. Jones is currently a psychologist at the Education and Training Center where she provides clinical supervision to doctoral trainees, conducts family and individual therapy as well as psychological evaluations. In addition, she is a certified PCIT therapist. Dr. Jones offers trainings and outreach to the community on topics related to trauma, adversity, and equity. She has conducted research related to race-based stereotypes and evidenced-based practices for treating complex trauma. She has experience working as a victim advocate in a sexual assault/domestic violence shelter and as a therapist at a center that provides services for survivors of interpersonal trauma. Her professional interests include working with high risk, underserved, and diverse youth as well as with survivors of interpersonal trauma and common comorbidities such as self-harm, substance misuse, etc.
